RESEARCH INTERESTS

- Academic library computer usage
- Audience response systems
- Web page usability
- Assessment of library services

CURRENT RESEARCH

I am currently involved in an ongoing research project. The project involves sampling and analyzing the use of the public access computers in the Mansfield Library. This project covers 4 sample periods during the academic year and samples 60+ computers. Samples are taken 3-4 times daily during all sample periods. Data from this project is used to support the software and resources accessible on the public computers as well as the location and number of computers available for public use. It also helps the librarians to better understand the information needs of our students. This project received funding from the University Grant Program for the AY 2001/2002.
